

will develop students' transferable skills through the University's embedded employability strategy. Upon completion of one of the Master's Awards programmes, students will be able to successfully tackle complex legal issues arising from practical scenarios, provide competent legal advice to fictional clients and critically evaluate the principles of law covered by the programme.

The University recognises that a number of students attracted to the PG Dip and PG Cert programmes will either be from non-common law jurisdictions or from a non-law

C9. evaluate and apply concepts learned in one area to another.

Full-time student term pattern:

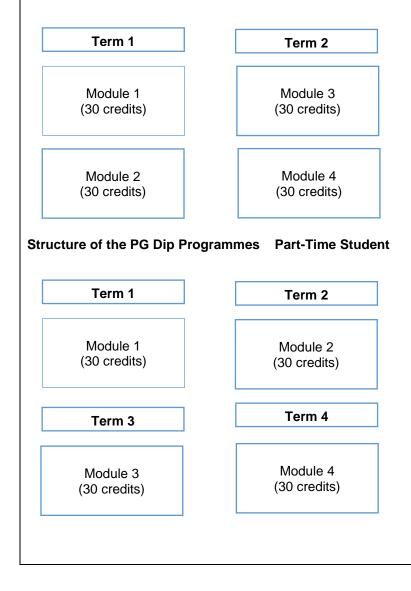

Term 1: Two Week Induction Five Teaching Weeks Reading Week Five Teaching Weeks Revision Period Assessment

For part-time students there will be two terms of taught content following the same pattern as Term 1 (minus the two week induction).

Full-time students will be expected to study the equivalent of 60 credits per term. Part-time students will be expected to study the equivalent of 30 credits per term.

The programme will require at least 30 credits to be linked to the award title.

Structure of the PG Dip Programmes Full-Time Student

PG Cert International Law

International Energy Law International Finance Law International Human Rights Public International Law Must complete two modules (60 credits) in

14. Programme Outcomes, Learning & Teaching and Assessment Strategies

A. Knowledge and Understanding

Upon successful completion of the programme, students will be able to demonstrate knowledge and understanding of:

A1. a substantial range of practical and theoretical legal and technological principles and processes relevant to the areas studied.

Learning and Teaching Methods

The approach to learning and teaching on the Master of Laws programmes is predominantly learner-centred. Each taught module is divided into a number of Units which are presented using the Prepare, Engage, Consolidate approach.

Prepare:

A2. the law of England and Wales and, where appropriate, European and or international law.

A3. current research and practical scholarship in relation to specific areas of law and technology both domestically and internationally, as appropriate.

A4. current problems and insights at the forefront of the discipline.

A5. research methods appropriate to law and the social sciences including primary and secondary sources, domestically and internationally, as appropriate.[MSc only]

C3. listen effectively to others, with a view to extracting relevant information, identifying gaps in information and/or distilling key points in order to form a coherent critique.	Assessment Methods The general transferable skills will generally be assessed within the formative and summative assessment methods outlined above.
C4. work independently and with originality in tackling and solving problems and overall act as an autonomous professional.
C5. communicate the conclusions of their research clearly and concisely to legal and non-legal; technical and non-technical audiences.
C6. identify transferable skills for employment requiring the exercise of personal responsibility, independent learning, and the exercise of initiative in complex and unpredictable situations.
C7. critically evaluate their own progress and independent learning for continuing professional development.
C8. appraise and make decisions with complex and unpredictable information and/or data.
C9. evaluate and apply concepts learned in one area to another.
16. Admissions Criteria	The minimum qualification for admission to the programme is normally the possession of a UK bachelor's degree at 2:2 or above or equivalent qualifications International students whose first language is not English will be required to pass the IELTS test at 6.5 or above, with a minimum of 6.0 in each of the four heads.

Document Version Control

		Revision Summary	Date
No.	by
V1.0			